

OREGON CHAPTER
LEWIS & CLARK TRAIL
HERITAGE FOUNDATION
November ~ 2006

The annual Oregon Chapter's Christmas celebration will be held Sunday, December 3, 2006. The dinner celebration will be on the campus of the Lewis and Clark College in Portland from 5:30 p.m. to 9:00 p.m. in Smith Hall.

Our guest speaker will be Dr. Susan Colby Ph.D., author of Sacagawea's Child: the Life and Times of Jean Baptist (Pomp) Charbonneau. Dr. Colby's book will be available for purchasing for $28.50 each

As an archaeologist Dr. Colby examines the life and adventures of Jean Baptiste Charbonneau, the son of the Sacagawea and Toussaint Charbonneau, a French fur trader. She says that Jean Baptiste (1805-1866) integrated the voyageur lifestyle of his father's people, the Native American heritage of his mother's people, and the Jeffersonian tradition of his guardian William Clark.

Musical entertainment will be by Jack Rich, flutist. Mr. Rich, is of Cherokee heritage, and resides in Newberg. He brings to us a sampling of flutes and the rich cultural heritage of the Native American music.

The Oregon Chapter is an Oregon non-profit corporation. Our Tax-ID number is 93-1326299.

Our Chapter membership is growing and we appreciate it very much. It is time again for renewal for the year 2007. We have just completed some exciting years with the sponsorship of the Annual Foundation meeting in August 2005 and the Bicentennial commemorations. We have established our own Oregon Chapter Website www.orlcthf.org and look forward to more exciting happenings in 2007.
